| AbstractMean values of temperature and precipitation are presented in this report. Reference normals for the period 1961-90 have been calculated for 510 stations with temperature measurements and for 1243 stations with precipitation measurements. These values, monthly and annual, will be used in comparison with measured actual values. The report also contains maps, for every month and for the year, showing the differences for temperature and ratios for precipitation between the reference values for the periods 1961-90 and 1931-60. Two other maps show mean monthly reference temperatures for January and July respectively. Another two maps show the average annual number of days with 1 mm or more and the average annual precipitation. In the end of the report there is a list of all the stations with reference values and a map containing all the stations that also were operating the first of januari 1991. |                       |                                          |

Förord

Vi vill rikta ett varmt tack till de tusentals observatörer runt om i landet som lagt grunden till denna rapport. Tack vare deras intresse och arbete med att i alla väder avläsa temperatur och nederbörd, har vi nu, förutom en kartläggning av klimatet 1961-90, ett gott material att referera till vid kommande observationer.

På SMHI har Haldo Vedin kommit med värdefulla synpunkter och Ann-Margreth Holst och Eva-Lena Ljungqvist ritat rent alla kartor som ingår i rapporten.

Temperaturen och nederbörden i Sverige

1961-90

Referensnormaler

Inledning

Ett enkelt och i många sammanhang användbart sätt att beskriva en Orts temperatur- eller nederbörds-klimat är att ange normalvärden för månaderna och året. För en mer omfattande beskrivning av klimatet behövs även andra statistiska uppgifter. Av intresse är bl a temperaturens dagliga variation under olika årstider, dygnsnederbörd, extremer och frekvenser för såväl månadsvärden som enstaka värde. Detta är några exempel på uppgifter som finns eller kan tas fram på SMHI.

I denna rapport presenteras dels tabeller med månads- och årsvärden för perioden 1961-90 och dels kartor med jämförelser mellan standardnormalperioderna (se förklaring nedan) 1961-90 och 1931-60. Dessutom finns kartor över normaltemperaturen för januari och juli, antal dagar med nederbörd på minst 1 mm samt årsnederbörden.

Historik

Regelbundna mätningar av temperatur och nederbörd började i Sverige under mitten av 1700-talet vid de tre astronomiska observatorierna i Lund, Stockholm och Uppsala. Under första hälften av 1800-talet gjordes även mätningar vid ytterligare några platser. På Vetenskapsakademiens initiativ inrättades omkring år 1860 ca 25 meteorologiska stationer. Detta var början till ett stationsnät, som mot slutet av 1800-talet omfattades av ca 500 nederbördsstationer och drygt 100 temperaturstationer.

Normalvärde

För att olika orters klimatuppgifter skall kunna jämföras måste värdena avse samma tidsperiod. Världsmeteorologiska organisationen (WMO) har därför bestämt att statistiska parametrar, som används för klimatbeskrivningar, skall beräknas för s k normalperioder. Med normalperiod avses varje 30-årsperiod, där entalssiffran i periodens första årtal är en etta. Vissa av dessa 30-årsperioder kallar man standardnormalperioder, vilket bl a gäller perioden 1961-90. Med normalvärde avses det aritmetiska medelvärdet för ett klimatelement under en sådan period.

Period- och referensnormaler

Normalvärde används huvudsakligen på två olika sätt

- dels vid redogörelse för en Orts eller ett områdes klimat
- dels som referensvärde vid jämförelse med en aktuell månads värde på samma Ort.

I det första fallet är man intresserad av att få ett så representativt värde som möjligt för platsen. Det är då de direkta, eller för mätfel korrigerade medelvärdena, de så kallade periodnormalerna, som används.

I det senare fallet, är det viktigt att ta hänsyn till mätseriens homogenitet, dvs att mätningarna utförts under samma betingelser hela tidsperioden. Ett brott i homogeniteten kan bero på instrumentbyte, flyttning av mätplats med några meter, som medfört något ändrade mätbetingelser, eller ett platsbyte, som inneburit ett annorlunda klimat.

En inhomogenitet kan även bestå av en gradvis påverkan. Exempelvis kan en ökad urbanisering ge en lokal, långsam temperaturhöjning och en uppväxande trädgård ett förbättrat vindskydd med mindre mätförluster av nederbörd. Det senare gäller främst när nederbörden faller som snö vid hård vind. Sådana förändringar är mer förrädiska och svårare att upptäcka med hjälp av ett matematiskt test.

Vid en inhomogenitet i mätserien är det stationens senaste läge som ligger till grund för normalvärdena, de s k referensnormalerna

Homogenitetstest

Mätserierna, som används för att beräkna medelvärdena i denna rapport, har genomgått ett homogenitetstest. Detta test finns beskrivet i Journal of Climatology, sid 661-674, 1986 och i SMHI-rapporten RMK, nr 58. Testet bygger på att man kan få en uppfattning om en series homogenitet genom att jämföra uppmätta värden med interpolerade. Man måste därför interpolera värden även för de år, då stationen varit igång.

Interpolationen görs med hjälp av ett antal närbelägna stationer. För att undersöka homogeniteten för nederbörd används kvoter mellan uppmätt och interpolerad mängd, och för temperatur används skillnader. Om en sådan serie av kvoter eller skillnader inte uppvisar några knyckar är serien tillräckligt homogen för att man skall använda periodnormalerna som referensnormaler. Om testet bedömer serien som inhomogen beräknas referensnormalvärden, som hänför sig till den senaste delen av mätserien.

Tabeller med referensnormaler

I denna rapport publiceras referensnormaler. De ger alltså normalvärdet för det senaste året för stationen. För stationer som inte har mätningar under hela perioden har saknade månadsvärden interpolerats. Därigenom har 30-årsmedelvärden kunnat beräknas för ett stort antal stationer, även om de med kortare serier är osäkrare. Ett homogenitetsbrott som inträffat under senare år ger en större osäkerhet hos referensnormalvärdet. I något enstaka fall har manuella kontroller inneburit att beräknade referensnormaler tills vidare ej bedömts som säkra utan ersatts med periodnormalerna.

De publicerade värdena ger en god grund för att beskriva och förstå vårt temperatur- och nederbörds klimat. Då värdena hänför sig till de aktuella mätbetingelserna är de lämpliga att jämföra med en aktuell månads värden för samma plats. Tabellerna med referensnormalvärden kommer att behöva revideras fortlöpande i takt med att homogenitetsbrott uppstår.

I tabell 1 och 2 redovisas referensnormaler för temperatur respektive nederbörd för perioden 1961-90. Redovisningen sker i klimatnummerordning och tabellerna in-nehåller klimatnummer, stationsnamn och referensnormaler för månads- och årsvärdena.

Kartor

Kartor som visar skillnaden mellan referensnormalerna för temperatur för perioderna 1961-90 och 1931-60 presenteras på kartorna 1-13. Karta 14 och 15 visar referensnormalerna för januari respektive juli.

Kartor som visar förhållandet mellan referensnormalerna för nederbörd för perioderna 1961-90 och 1931-60 presenteras på kartorna 16-28. Antalet dagar med minst 1 mm nederbörd visas på karta 29 och årsnederbörden på karta 30.

Stationstabell

Stationstabellen, tabell 3, innehåller uppgifter om stationernas klimatnummer (se definition nedan), namn, landskap, flodområde, latitud och longitud, höjd över havet samt tidsperiod under vilken stationen varit igång mellan 1961 och 1990. Uppehåll på mindre än ett halvår finns inte dokumenterat i tabellen. Stationerna är sorterade i klimatnummerordning.

Antalet stationer som presenteras är 1273 stycken, varav 1243 har nederbörds mätningar och 510 har temperaturmätningar i tillräcklig omfattning för att normalvärde har kunnat beräknats. De flesta stationer som har temperaturnormaler har även nederbördsnormaler.

Tabell 4 är en omvandlingstabell från bokstavs- till klimatnummerordning.

Stationskarta

Alla stationer som var igång den 1 januari 1991 finns med på stationskartan, karta 31 i slutet av rapporten. För att lokalisera stationerna på kartan används klimatnumret. De två (fysiskt nummer) eller tre (femsiffrigt nummer) första siffrorna anger vilken ruta stationen tillhör. Rutan begränsas av hela latituder och longituder och rutnumret finns med på stationskartan. För rutnummer över 99 finns inte hundratalssiffran angiven. Inom varje ruta finns ett tvåsiffrigt nummer, vilket utgör de två sista siffrorna i klimatnumret.

Mätning av lufttemperatur

Lufttemperaturen mäts 1.5-2 meter över marken. Termometrarna är placerade i en vitmålad bur, vars sidor har V-formade spjälor, vilket ger god luftväxling samt skydd mot solstrålning och nederbörd. Termometerburen skall vara uppställd på plan gräsbevuxen mark, där vinden har fritt spelrum. På senare tid har även andra typer av strålningskydd börjat att användas, vilka ger ett likvärdigt skydd. Dessa skydd används främst då man har en automatisk registrering av temperaturen.

Temperaturen avläses minst tre gånger per dygn och avläsningstiderna har sedan 1947 varit kl 07, 13 och 19 (svensk normaltid). De flesta stationer är utrustade med kvicksilvertermometrar. Vid en del nordligt belägna stationer har man under 80-talet kompletterat dessa med kvicksilver-tallium-termometrar. Vid automatstationer mäts temperaturen i allmänhet med ett temperaturkänsligt elektriskt motstånd.

Förutom den aktuella temperaturen kl 19 avläses även den lägsta och högsta temperaturen sedan kl 19 föregående dygn på alla stationer. Vid en stor del av stationerna ställs maximi- och minimitermometrarna om även kl 07. Termometern för avläsning av maximitemperaturen är i allmänhet en kvicksilvertermometer, medan minimitemperaturen avläses på en sprittermometer.

Beräkning av temperaturmedelvärden

Månadens medeltemperatur beräknas i Sverige genom att medelvärdena för observationerna kl 07, 13 och 19 samt dygnets maximi- och minimitemperatur viktas med koefficienter som är funktioner av longitud och tid på året. Metoden utarbetades i början av seklet av N Ekholm. Den har senare modifierats av Helge Modén och Bertil Eriksson.

Tidigare publikationer

A Ångström presenterade 1938 normaltemperaturer för perioden 1901-30 i SMHA publikationen Lufttemperatur och temperaturanomalier i Sverige 1901-30.

Medelvärden för perioden 1931-60 finns redovisade för ca 80 orter i R Taeslers Klimatdata för Sverige, 1971, och för ett större antal platser i SMHIs rapport Medeltemperaturer 1931-60, referensnormaler av Haldo Vedin, 1973.

Bertil Eriksson publicerade normalvärden för perioden 1951-80 i SMHIs RMK-rapport, nr 39 (1982), Data rörande Sveriges temperaturklimat. I denna rapport finns också jämförelser med tidigare normalperioder.

Nederbörd

Mätning av nederbörd

Mätutrustningen för nederbörd har successivt förbättrats ända sedan 1890-talet. Detta har medfört många inhomogena mätserier. Hela tiden sedan 1962 har dock exakt samma mätartyp använts. Den består av en aluminiumkanna vars öppning har diametern 159,5 mm, vilket ger en uppsamlingsyta av 200 kvadratcentimeter. Till mätaren hör särskilda mätglas. Ett avdunstningsskydd i form av en tratt sätts i mätaren under sommarhalvåret för att hindra att nederbörd i kannan avdunstar. Till skillnad mot tidigare har också mätarna under hela perioden varit försedda med en vindskärm, vars övre kant når upp i jämnhöjd med kannans öppning. Vindskärmens uppgift är att minska de mätfel, som uppstår då nederbörden faller i samband med vind. Särskilt vid hård vind och snöfall kan annars stora mätfel uppstå.

Nederbördsmätaren placeras på väl vindskyddad plats, dock ska mätarens avstånd till närmaste byggnad, träd eller andra mer betydande hinder vara minst lika stort som föremålets höjd. Mätarens övre kant ska vara 150 cm över markytan, då marken inte är täckt med snö. I snörika trakter ökas höjden tillräckligt för att drivsnö inte ska blåsa in i mätaren.

Nederbörden mäts upp minst 1 gång per dygn, kl 07 (svensk normaltid). Vid omkring en fjärdedel av stationerna mäts nederbörden även kl 19 och vid ytterligare några få stationer mäts nederbörden även kl 01 och 13.

Beräkning av nederbördsmängder

Dygnsnederbörden för ett dygn är den nederbörd som faller från kl 07 detta dygn till kl 07 följande dygn.

Månadsnederbörden beräknas därför också från kl 07 den första fram till kl 07 den första nästföljande månad.

Tidigare publikationer

En första sammanfattande översikt av vårt lands nederbördsförhållanden utgavs av H E Hamberg, 1910: Nederbörden i Sverige 1860-1910.

Nästa redogörelse om Sveriges nederbörds-klimat publicerades av A Wallén, 1924. I Nederbördskartor över Sverige, finns utarbetat kartor för 40-årsperioden 1881-1920 och medelvärden av årsnederbörden 1911-20.

Sedan perioden 1901-30 blivit antagen såsom klimatologisk normalperiod redovisades resultaten av denna normalvärdesberäkning i Nederbörden i Sverige. Medelvärden 1901-1930 av C C Wallén, 1951.

För speciellt hydrologiskt bruk utfördes av F Bergsten en undersökning, som offentliggjordes 1954: Nederbörden i Sverige. Medelvärden 1921-1950.

Medelvärden för standardnormalperioden 1931-60 har publicerats av R Taesler i Klimatdata för Sverige, 1971 och C Karlström i Nederbörden i Sverige. Medelvärden 1931-60 (Referensnormaler), 1985.

Den senast behandlade perioden finns presenterad av B Eriksson i Data rörande Sveriges Nederbörds-klimat. Normalvärden för perioden 1951-80, 1983.
